USF School of Management Honors Program

Empowering high-achieving students through academic excellence, leadership, and community.

What is the Honors Program?

The School of Management Honors Program (SOMHP) recognizes academically successful business students and brings them together for an elevated learning experience grounded in USF's Jesuit Catholic values.

"The Honors Program's three-year cohort experience, grounded in leadership, collaboration, service, and academic excellence, has given me a strong network and lasting friendships. These pillars have also helped many of us secure internships and professional opportunities, preparing us with the skills and confidence to succeed in our future careers."

— Navya Kakkar '26, Finance & Business Analytics
